

Nursing Education Graduate School

Required Number of Hours: 12 hours

Description of certificate: (Include an introductory paragraph and certificate plan of study.)

The Nursing Education Certificate will allow graduate nursing students to be eligible for the nurse educator role through "preparation in curriculum design and development, teaching methodologies, educational needs assessment, and learner-centered theories and methods," (AACN, 2011, p.6). Therefore, this graduate, 12 credit hour, Nursing Education Certificate will provide knowledge and understanding for the graduate nurse to instruct nursing students in nursing discipline and practice through proven pedagogical methods.

MSN 5153 Nursing Education
MSN 5163 Nursing Education Practicum
MSN 5173 Nursing Education Technology
MSN 5183 Nursing Education Technology Practicum

Student Learning Outcomes:

1. Apply theories, principles and strategies of teaching and learning in ways that meet the needs of diverse learning styles.
2. Revise curriculum for nursing.
3. Facilitate learning of individuals and groups using relevant theories of nursing, teaching and learning, evaluation, and technological innovation.
4. Demonstrate understanding of teaching/learning of individuals and groups using relevant theories of nursing, teaching and learning, evaluation, and technological innovation.

Contact information:

Dr. Allison Divine, Chair of Master of Science in Nursing
870.230-5273
E-Mail: divinea@hsu.edu